

JULIE WILLIAMSON, OF COLDWELL BANKER RESIDENTIAL BROKERAGE, PALM SPRINGS DESERT COMMUNITITES AND BEVERLY HILLS, CA, NAMED A MEMBER OF TOP 5 IN REAL ESTATE NETWORK ®

Local Realtor Earns Most Prestigious of all Industry Achievements

June 18, 2009 - Norwalk, CT- Reaching the pinnacle of her profession nationally, Julie Williamson, of Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage, was accepted as a Member of the Top 5 in Real Estate Network®, the most prestigious of all industry achievements.

More than just a sales-driven recognition, the Top 5 in Real Estate Network® meets a need that heretofore has never been addressed – helping consumers identify the most professional real estate agents in North America. To qualify, each member must first meet a stringent set of criteria, based upon performance, as well as educational and professional skills and service to the consumer.

Members of the Network are carefully selected and managed by RISMedia, which has provided the real estate industry with objective, unbiased news for nearly 30 years. As a Member of the Top 5 Network, Williamson is among the first real estate agents to be accepted into this elite organization.

Allan Dalton, the president and co-founder of RISMedia's Top 5 Network congratulated Williamson for earning this top status within the industry. "Julie has reached the very highest level of North America's residential real estate industry. Not only are her professional accomplishments extraordinary, she has long been a true champion for home buyers and sellers in her area. It is a pleasure to welcome Julie into this elite group of industry leaders."

According to John Featherston, RISMedia's CEO & publisher and co-founder of the Top 5 in Real Estate Network, the significance of Top 5 is that consumers deserve full transparency regarding all matters related to the real estate transaction, which often begins with the need to select a highly competent, experienced and results-oriented real estate professional. Top 5 in Real Estate has been established to both empower consumers with leading real estate content through Top 5 members, as well as to ensure that consumers are made fully aware that there is a material difference between average and exceptional real estate professionals.

For nearly 30 years, Julie Williamson has demonstrated extraordinary success as a Realtor for luxury properties. She maintains a caring commitment to her clientele, consisting of first-time home buyers and sellers, as well as industry leaders from Europe, Canada and throughout the U.S. Williamson prides herself on providing each client the utmost discretion and integrity. Passionate about real estate, she marvels at the advancements within the industry throughout her stellar career. Williamson is a member of the International President's Elite group, which is made up of the top 2% of Coldwell Banker agents nationwide. She is also an International Previews Director and has been selected to represent some of the most prestigious properties in Los Angeles, Chicago and Palm Springs Desert Communities. Williamson has obtained and sold some of the highest priced residential listings in these areas due to her seasoned ability to negotiate and her tireless commitment to see each transaction through to completion.
